Regulation concerning the buyers

Definition of a buyer

A buyer is a person, a group of persons, a company or any other form juridically determined and responsible in buying products.

Duty of authentication of the Charter

Any buyer wishing to start operations with BePangea is first bound to have subscribed to the Charter and ratify the present convention.

Implicitly all operation commitment by a buyer is considered as a automatic authentication of the Charter and of the present regulation.

Extension of the position of the buyer

Any buyer accepted by BePangea can be part of a local Collective according to its regulations if he wants to, and could have the benefit of foreseen remunerations according to his activities without distinction whether they are about the products they buy or about those of a third party.

The buyer can use its own logistic means to buy his products. This will have repercussion of the calculation of the prices.

Right of refusal or expulsion of a buyer

BePangea has the right to refuse or expulse temporarily or definitively a buyer.
